

McKENNEY SAYS HYLAN PARROTS FALSEHOOD

Again Explains That Transit Board Won't Buy Any 'Junk.'

MAYOR SEES A 'PLOT'

Charges His Removal Is Sought to Pave Way for Bus Franchise.

WARNS OF PROPAGANDA

Transit Chief Replies City Hall Propaganda Is Tissue of Lies.

George McKenney, chairman of the Transit Commission, yesterday called on Mayor Hylan to stop repeating "the old lie" charges that the commission is bent on increasing fares and spending $500,000,000 of city funds for "junk" and to specify what he means by his pet term "junk."

"It seems to me fair to suggest to the Mayor once more that he drop this fabrication," Mr. McKenney said. "What he says about increasing fares has no word of truth in it. Not only will the five cent fare be preserved but if the commission's plans go through it will roll over the double and trouble fares with which the Mayor has plagued the city."

Mr. McKenney received the commission's plans, the valuation of the transit properties and again "patiently pointed out" to the Mayor just what it is sought to accomplish.

The Mayor took a new tack yesterday in his efforts to offset the disclosures made recently by the commission in its investigation of the abuses of the bus system. He charges the commission with being in collusion with the "interests" to grab up the valuable bus franchises, unload a lot of broken down trolley systems and get rich quick.

In his statement Mr. McKenney said: "The Mayor has made no reply to statements of fact. His discussion of the whole matter seems to have shriveled down to a parrotlike repetition of the charge that the commission, having no thought for the building of new subways or interest in them, is really bent on spending $500,000,000 to $600,000,000 of city funds for the purchase of the existing lines and that these lines are in the main 'junk.' To this usually he adds the charge that the commission proposes to bring about a state of affairs under which five cent fares would be increased to eight or more. The commission of course has no plan whatever for buying the private roads with city funds and certainly no desire for investing in 'junk.' It has no plan whatever for an increase of fares, but on the other hand, as the result of a year and a half of work, has managed to preserve not only the existing five cent fare but to bring the time measurably nearer when that fare can be broadly extended."

"What the Mayor means by his talk about $500,000,000 worth of 'junk' I do not know. The commission is trying to get the $500,000,000 worth of 'junk' out of the city, the subways included, are subdivided as follows:

Subway lines (the companies' share of ownership).....$200,000,000
Elevated lines.....118,230,000
Surface lines.....127,800,000
Total.....$435,000,000

Hylan's Statement.

Mayor Hylan in his statement said: "Prepare the ground for the removal of Hylan, is the renewed order of the traction ring which is trying desperately to reflect Gov. Miller and to discredit city operation of buses. Having tried to do this through the Almsbury 'overhauling' crisis, 'Grand Jury' they are now trying again."

"The most valuable franchise in the city next to that of subway operation is the franchise for the operation of buses on the surface of the city streets. The traction ring is determined that they and no one else should have this privilege, along with their exclusive right to operate the elevated lines and subway lines. To accomplish this they will go to any length and hire, and cause the Transit Commission to hire, any attorney or politician who will do their bidding."

"If Gov. Miller is defeated for reelection the Transit Commission, created by special act of the Republican Legislature, will go out of business. No other governor than the present would dare attempt to put over the plan to accomplish which the commission was created. The plan in brief is to buy from the traction ring the surface and elevated lines at a fabulous sum—anywhere between $350,000,000 and $500,000,000—and after paying them with the people's money to turn over the lines, along with new and old city owned subways and city operated bus routes, to the traction ring for operation at an 8 or 10 cent fare."

The Political Drive.

"If the city operated buses the profits of the traction ring would be greatly reduced. For this reason the Republican traction ring controlled Legislature has repeatedly refused to pass legislation enabling the city to own and operate modern, up to date buses."

"The members of the State Transit Commission, in their desperation over the poor prospects for the reelection of the gubernatorial candidate who appointed them to office at $15,000 a year each, have temporarily transformed themselves into a group of highly paid official political propagandists. It is not surprising that they should cast aside their official roles and assume the role of traction publicity agents."

"It is evident from all this that the members of the commission are concerned less with real rapid transit than they are with the preservation of their own jobs. If Gov. Miller is defeated for reelection the Transit Commission's jobs and the 'job' which they are trying to put over on the people and the city will fall together."

SALVATION LASS IMPROVES.

Captain Rhea Crawford of the Salvation Army, who was admitted to the Memorial Hospital, 521 East Eighty-sixth street, Saturday morning in a state approaching nervous breakdown, improved yesterday, it was said at the hospital. Miss Crawford still is confined to her bed, however, and probably will not be able to resume her work for two weeks.

Captain Crawford was arrested a week ago last night while conducting a meeting in Times Square.

WOMAN PREACHER ASSERTS JEALOUS PASTORS BAR SEX

Contents Many Men Enter Ministry for Easy Living, Prestige and Politics and Therefore Commercialize the Pulpit—Their Fitness Questioned.

The Rev. Martha M. Rogers, assistant pastor of the Hanson Place M. E. Church in Brooklyn, who is the first Methodist woman in the East to obtain a license to preach, believes that the jealousy of clergymen is partly responsible for the exclusion of women from the ministry.

"Women are kept out of the clergy because of misinterpretation of St. Paul and because of jealousy on the part of clergymen," said Mrs. Rogers yesterday. "If they can obtain equality of opportunity they will eventually occupy a majority of the pulpits and will give to the world a clearer, more comprehensive, more orthodox, more inspiring message."

She said Mrs. Rogers are not so spiritual as women. She added: "They enter the clergy not so much through a belief in a special call but because it is an easy living. They commercialize the pulpit. They enter the ministry for its prestige, some enter it for its political advantages."

"In general, however, they are not specially fitted either from the spiritual side or from their line of thought. Of the reason they are not so spiritual is that they are open to more temptations than men, but that is one reason they ought not to monopolize the pulpit. They do not sufficiently orthodox. They do not, many of them, take the Bible literally. They sermonize on philosophy, science, current events, politics and almost anything except the right thing. And when they do preach the word of God the people are all tired out. Anyway, the congregation knows beforehand what the preacher is going to say. They read the magazines."

"It is easy to see that women are more spiritual than men. We can see it in the average household. Many a man goes through life expecting to get to Heaven on his wife's prayers. He is a good man, but he is not spiritual. He is a child to his wife. It does not interest him. Yes, women are more religious than men. They are now sustaining the church. They form at least two-thirds of the total churchgoers in the United States."

Mrs. Rogers is the assistant at the church of which the Rev. Harry Knight Miller was pastor. He resigned recently to go into business. The church is at Hanson place, corner of St. Felix street.

WOMAN IN PARTY ROBBING DETECTIVE

Nassau County Officer Shot as He Chases Bandits in Automobile.

Ferdinand Miller of Seaford, L. I., county detective of Nassau county, went looking for holdup men early yesterday morning as a result of numerous complaints. He found three men and a woman in an automobile on the Foxhurst road near Baldwin, and they held him up and took $50 and a gold watch from him after one of the men had inquired the way to Long Beach.

Miller, however, seized the man as he was getting back into the automobile, but the thief broke loose and jumped into the car. Miller pursued them in his own car, shooting. The fire was returned by the bandits and Miller was shot in the left arm. The detective then went to Baldwin and notified Sheriff Smith, who sent deputies out to search for the bandits. Half a mile away they found the automobile, abandoned.

Later this machine was identified by Christian Kammerer of 75 Stevens street as one that he had sold last week to Frank Koener of 163 Observer street, Rockville Center. At this address the deputies arrested Thomas Marino, who was identified by Miller as one of the men who had held him up. Koener and his wife were questioned, and Koener was arrested on statements made by Mrs. Koener. Koener and Marino were said by the authorities to have been identified by other persons who have been robbed in the past week.

Peter Cashapes, owner of the Mard, Gray Moving Picture Theatre and Hotel at Coney Island, was shot in the chest early yesterday by one of three men who tried to hold him up in the hallway of his home, at 1604 Street Avenue, Coney Island. He is in the Coney Island Hospital. The bullet pierced a lung. He is not expected to recover.

Cashapes told the police he had $500 in cash and $2,100 in Liberty bonds in his pockets, and wore a tie pin valued at $1,000, a diamond ring valued at $2,000 and other pieces of jewelry of lesser value.

Instead of obeying the robber's orders Cashapes drew an automatic pistol and began shooting. The holdup men returned the fire.

A man giving the name of William Le Strange, 23 years old, a laborer, of 443 East Fifty-eighth street, was held yesterday without bail on a charge of attempted robbery by Magistrate William A. Swetzer in the Washington Heights Court for examination to-day.

Le Strange was arrested by Detectives Frank McFarland and John Butler of the West 100th street station, following an alleged assault on Vito Petrone, owner of a saloon at 2385 Eighth avenue. According to Petrone he was in his saloon late Saturday night when a man entered and asked him how much cash he had in his register, following up the query with an attempt to strike him over the head with an iron bar.

Petrone ducked the blow and a scuffle followed. Petrone's assailant fleeing when he heard help coming. Detectives McFarland and Butler arrested Le Strange a block away from the scene.

DR. OLDHAM PREACHES FAREWELL AS RECTOR

Leaves St. Ann's to Become Coadjutor Bishop.

The Rev. G. Ashton Oldham, D. D., who will be consecrated Coadjutor Bishop of Albany tomorrow, preached his last sermon yesterday as rector of St. Ann's Protestant Episcopal Church on the Heights, Brooklyn. His retirement was made the occasion for the consecration of a new memorial chapel to commemorate young men of the parish who lost their lives in the world war.

Last night Dr. Oldham was presented with a complete set of episcopal vestments, a Bishop's cross from the men and a ring containing the Masonic emblem given by the Franklin Pettit Uplift Post, American Legion.

The Rev. Charles Lewis Slattery, D. D., rector of Grace Church, will preach his farewell sermon there next Sunday morning. He is to be consecrated Coadjutor Bishop of Massachusetts.

Memorial Will Mark Roosevelt's '100 P. C. American' Speech

Near the spot in Forest Hills, Queens, where on July 4, 1917, the late Theodore Roosevelt delivered his noted "100 per cent. American" speech in which he declared all pro-Germans and pacifists were traitors to the nation, a memorial to be erected in Forest Hills, N. Y., has been obtained for the memorial, and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., in a letter to the church officials said that this tribute seemed to be in "perfect consonance" with his father's ideal in life.

NEW CHURCH CLUB FIRST AID TO CUPID

Lonesome Society Head Plans to Take Matchmaking Out of Devil's Hands.

The "National Lonesome Club," a social organization sponsored by the Union Methodist Episcopal Church, in West Forty-eighth street, to combat loneliness among strangers and newcomers to the city and, incidentally, to stimulate matchmaking, held its first regular Sunday sessions in the parlors of the church yesterday afternoon and evening.

The club was originated by Miss Clara Salem, a lawyer, on the theory that "for every boy that's lonesome there's a girl that's lonesome, too," and that there are thousands of each in New York. The business of matchmaking is held out for longer or shorter periods should be in the hands of the devil."

A primary purpose of the club is to introduce many men and women, so that they may have wider choice in selecting mates. City life, Miss Salem thinks, does not permit women to meet many men under favorable circumstances, and they often take the first matrimonial chance that comes along for fear they may not have another. The same is true, she says, of men.

But matchmaking is merely an incidental purpose of the club, its original purpose said. Its principal object is to bring together lonely men and women, whether they be old or young, married or single. Many of the members are not candidates for matrimony. Miss Salem said yesterday, but simply desire companionship. Some are staid business women, some are young and modern, and some are married persons whose mates are not in the city and who have become lonely.

The club has the blessing of the pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. John G. Benson, and of the Council of the Boards of Benevolence of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at 150 Fifth avenue.

TEACHERS UNION HEAD DEMANDS CERTIFICATES

Sends Protest to Commissioner of Education in Albany.

Henry R. Linville, president of the Teachers Union, sent a letter last night to Dr. Frank P. Graves, Commissioner of Education at Albany, protesting against the withholding of certificates of character and loyalty from several New York school teachers.

Dr. Graves had said the certificates were being withheld because the names of the teachers had not been reached. Mr. Linville declared that in certain schools all the teachers had been reached and their certificates by September exceeding six persons. These persons, he declared, have received no reply to their inquiries and nothing has been done about furnishing them with certificates.

DOUBT SUSPECT'S TALE HE SLEW ELSIE SIEGEL

Police Here Await Records of St. Louis Prisoner.

The police here are awaiting to examine the finger prints and photograph of Willis Wolfe, aged 31, who walked into Central District police station in St. Louis on Saturday and said he had murdered Elsie Siegel, a school worker, in Chinatown here, in July, 1919.

Wolfe told the St. Louis police he was sitting in a rooming house with a woman he called "Slats" when Miss Siegel appeared. He said "Slats" told him to kill the settlement worker, so he took a club and beat her to death. The police here and in St. Louis doubt the story.

FUNDS FOR CHILDREN ASKED.

A public appeal for contributions to a fund for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children will be issued to-day by M. Linn Bruce, president, it was announced yesterday. The appeal is based on the statement that 100,000 children in New York city will need the protection of the society next year.

KILLS HERSELF IN FEAR OF EVICTION BY CITY

Woman, 78, Found Near Coney Island Creek.

The body of Mrs. Annie Jackson, 78 years old, of 2347 West Eleventh street, was found yesterday in a tributary of Coney Island Creek, a quarter of a mile from her home.

Her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Kennedy, said her mother had committed suicide through worry over city condemnation proceedings that she feared would destroy her home, in the route of a proposed drainage canal.

LUXURY SHIPS SENT TO MEDITERRANEAN

Unprecedented Plans Laid for Heavy Travel to Southern Europe.

14 BIG CRAFT TO GO

Various Lines Keen Rivals in Race and Booking Already Heavy.

ITALY NEW COMPETITOR

Cruises, Tours and Voyages de Luxe Open Season on Thursday.

More giant liners of the luxury class will be in the Mediterranean service in the season that virtually begins next Thursday with the departure from this port of the Cunarder Tuscania than even in the booming pre-war period. The rather meager record of the fall and winter of 1921-22 will be eclipsed completely. Figures of the future several months are not obtainable yet, but the experts declare that probably more than three times as many tourists will visit ports of the balmy inland sea as went there last season, on a comparatively small fleet was in service, made up chiefly of five International Mercantile Marine liners that carried the bulk of the voyagers, numbering fewer than 6,000.

Fourteen ships of distinction in the transatlantic trade are advertised on voyage de luxe, including the White Star liner, Homeric, chartered by Thomas Cook & Son; the Cunarder Mauretania, swiftest, merchantman afloat, operated by the American Express Company; the Empress of Scotland (formerly the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria), managed by Frank C. Clark; the Holland-America steamship Holland, biggest of her class; and the Empress of France, operated by the Raymond & Whitcomb Company, and the Cunarder Scythia, run by the Frank Tourist Company.

Italian Ships Compete.

Two fine new Italian steamships have come into the New York-Mediterranean trade this year and they will help swell the multitude that will seek recreation under placid skies in sunny lands. Both ships are equipped as are no others flying the Italian flag and are quite equal to the best under the ensigns of other nations. They are the Giulio Cesare of the fleet of the Navigazione Generale Italiana, known for short as the N. G. I., and the Lloyd Sabaudo's newest creation, the Conte Rosso.

Naturally much of the success of the Mediterranean season of this fall and winter depends on the weather. There is a strong belief that there will be no recurrence of hostile demonstrations involving Mediterranean countries.

Agents of the two great Italian ships say that their sailings properly called, be called cruises, but simply voyages de luxe. It is the first time the Italian lines have been able to compete in the Mediterranean with great ships flying other flags and they are making the most of it. They have gone into the excursion trade seriously. They report that the bookings for their voyages have exceeded their expectations, being far better than last year. New and modern ships, the experts say, always win patronage when coupled with judicious advertising.

Advertising Unprecedented.

One of the reasons for the unexpected increase in Mediterranean traffic is the unprecedented publicity campaigns of the various lines and the chartering by tourist agencies of the finest ships, backed by the ventures with more advertising than ever had been undertaken in the history of the business. Some of the cruises begin in January and continue until after the summer season, thus enabling the tourists to escape the rigors of a New York or New England winter without paying much more than they would by living ashore in a comfortable hotel. This year the Stars and Stripes and the United American Line, which with the new Holland-America line, Volendam, is under the management of the Raymond & Whitcomb Company, the Empress of France, run by Frank C. Clark, and the new Cunarder Samaria, operated by Thomas Cook & Son, are the others.

In the list of the fourteen Mediterranean ships besides those mentioned above are the White Star liners Adriatic, Cretic and Arctic, the Cunarders Tuscania and Cornelia, the Red Star line's Laurel and the Connelin liner President Wilson. Specialists of all the lines agree that the "concomitant" that the winter season will bring is a big gain in the Mediterranean trade in many years.

Do Not Difficulties Greatly Hinder Success?

Never, Never! Surmounting difficulties gives new strength, new ideas, more energy, and creates heroes who otherwise would have been only mere ciphers on life's battlefields.

Lots of men and women, well born, finely educated, are settled in the commonplaces of careers because they lacked courage to overcome what seemed to them to be difficulties.

BULLETIN

Belmaison has just done a hall in red and white Toile de Jouy paper with a design of the monuments of Paris. A blue paper with silver stars was used for the ceiling, and the woodwork painted red. Vive la France!

Some old colored prints have been framed with wide mats of wall paper in narrow pink and white stripes. This doubles the charm of the print and gives a delightful note of color.

A new finish for silk lamp shades is made of rose and gold picot ribbon folded back on itself to make a double row of points.

Serge is an unusual material for curtains, but Belmaison has used it very successfully in making a pair of peach colored serge curtains with a band of crevel work across the top of the window, crevel work tie-backs, and a worsted fringe to edge the curtains.

A gay and charming screen for a bed-room is made of pink and white Toile de Jouy paper with a floral design. The frame of the screen is painted rose.

Old Spanish tiles, showing a religious procession, have been set in the top of a small low table that has just been made for a Palm Beach house. Fifth Gallery, New Building
